TABLE OF CONTENTS

The songs of our lives
have played intertwined

for these four years.

Celebrations and special times

Threaded through with our one melody.

Now each must gather
his own notes

and travel on alone,
never to share the same music
again

Yet . . . the songs of our summers
and those of our winters

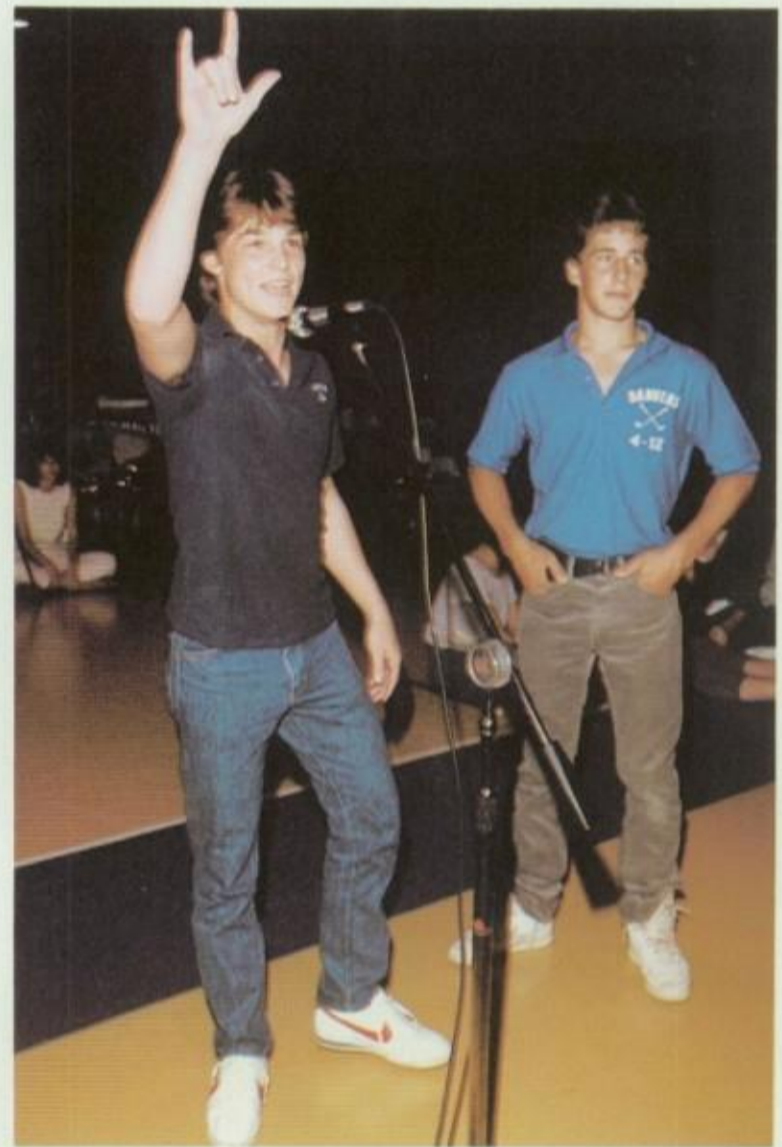

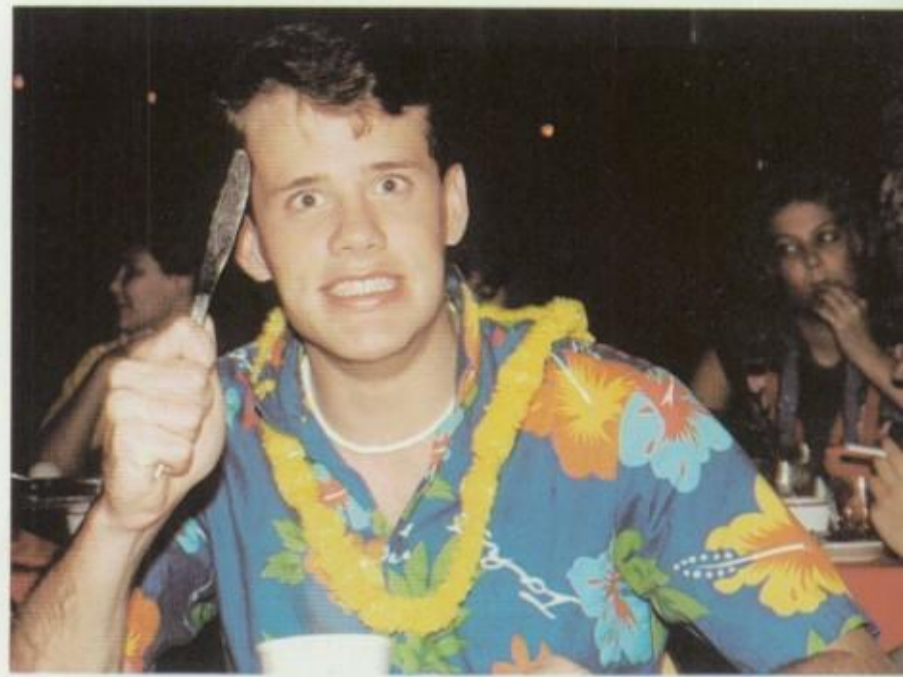

Will never be forgotten

Someday, a single note
may recall our past,

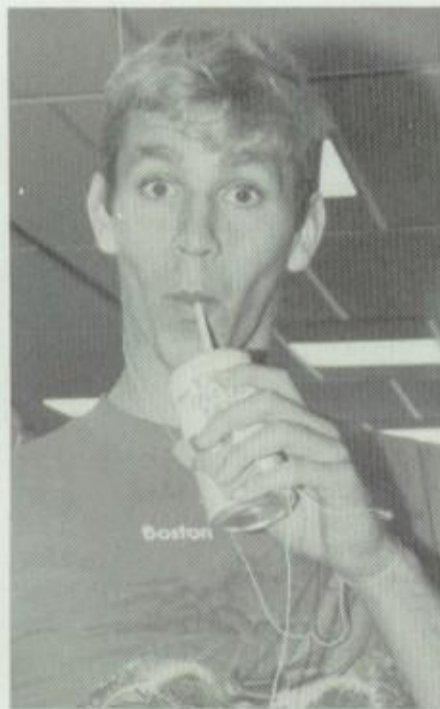

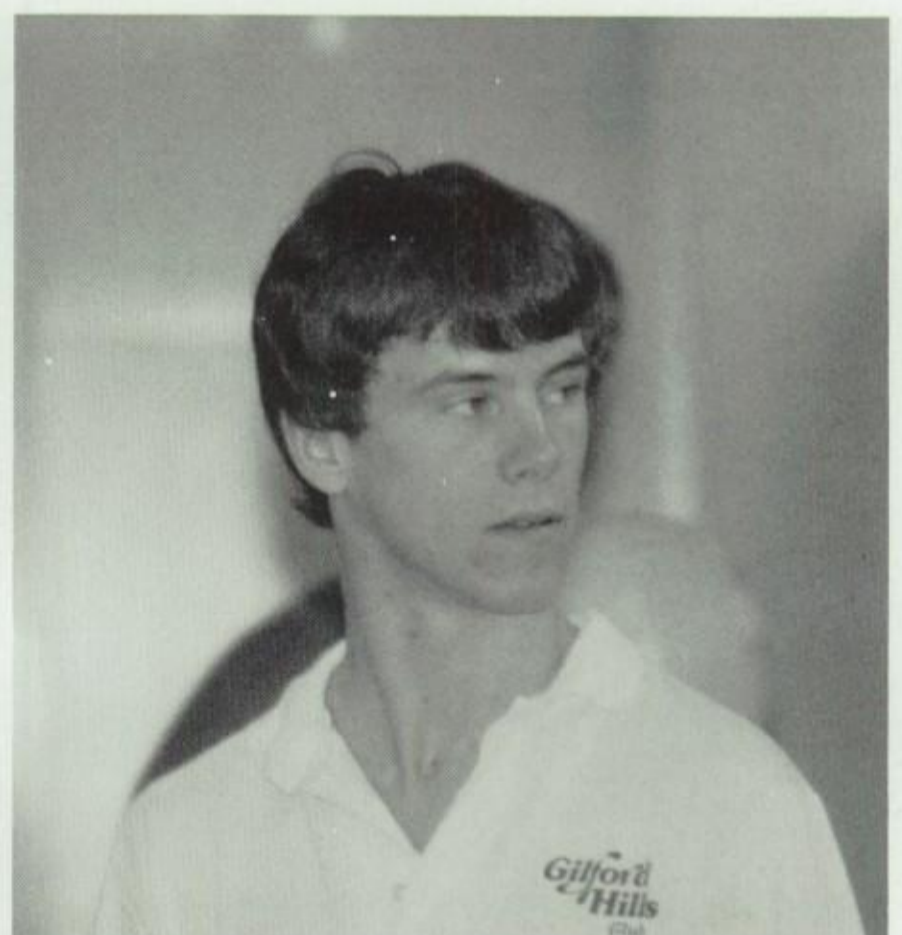

and bring forth a smile.

For, though we separate to go our ways alone

Somewhere, still in time,
the songs we left behind play sweetly on.

The background of the page is a faint, multi-staff musical score. It includes various musical notations such as treble and bass clefs, key signatures (including a sharp sign), time signatures, and notes of different durations (quarter, eighth, and sixteenth notes). Some notes are beamed together, and there are slurs over groups of notes. The score is spread across the entire page, with the text block interrupting it in the center.

Music has many purposes as an essential part of our lives. We wake up to it, play it in our cars as we drive, study to it, and relax with it. We bring our songs with us to the beach, to parties, and to school. It consoles us . . . and breaks our hearts. Music talks about our dreams, ideals, and feelings better than we ever could. And it remembers . . . the times we laughed, cried, and danced together. Our entire lives can be contained in a series of songs, a note of which brings back our times at Danvers High.

Dedication

Antoinette Corkery

Husband Dennis Corkery and son Dennis visit Danvers High School for the Student Council Faculty children's holiday party.

The Class of 1986 dedicates our yearbook to Antoinette Corkery. A teacher of the Advanced Placement English course for many years, Mrs. Corkery perennially challenges her students to the utmost. Socratic in method, Mrs. Corkery works indefatigably to elicit original thoughts and critical analysis in her English classes.

Everyone complains about the rigorous workload yet no one complains about the teacher. How can anyone get mad at "Corks" when she smiles as she piles on the papers?

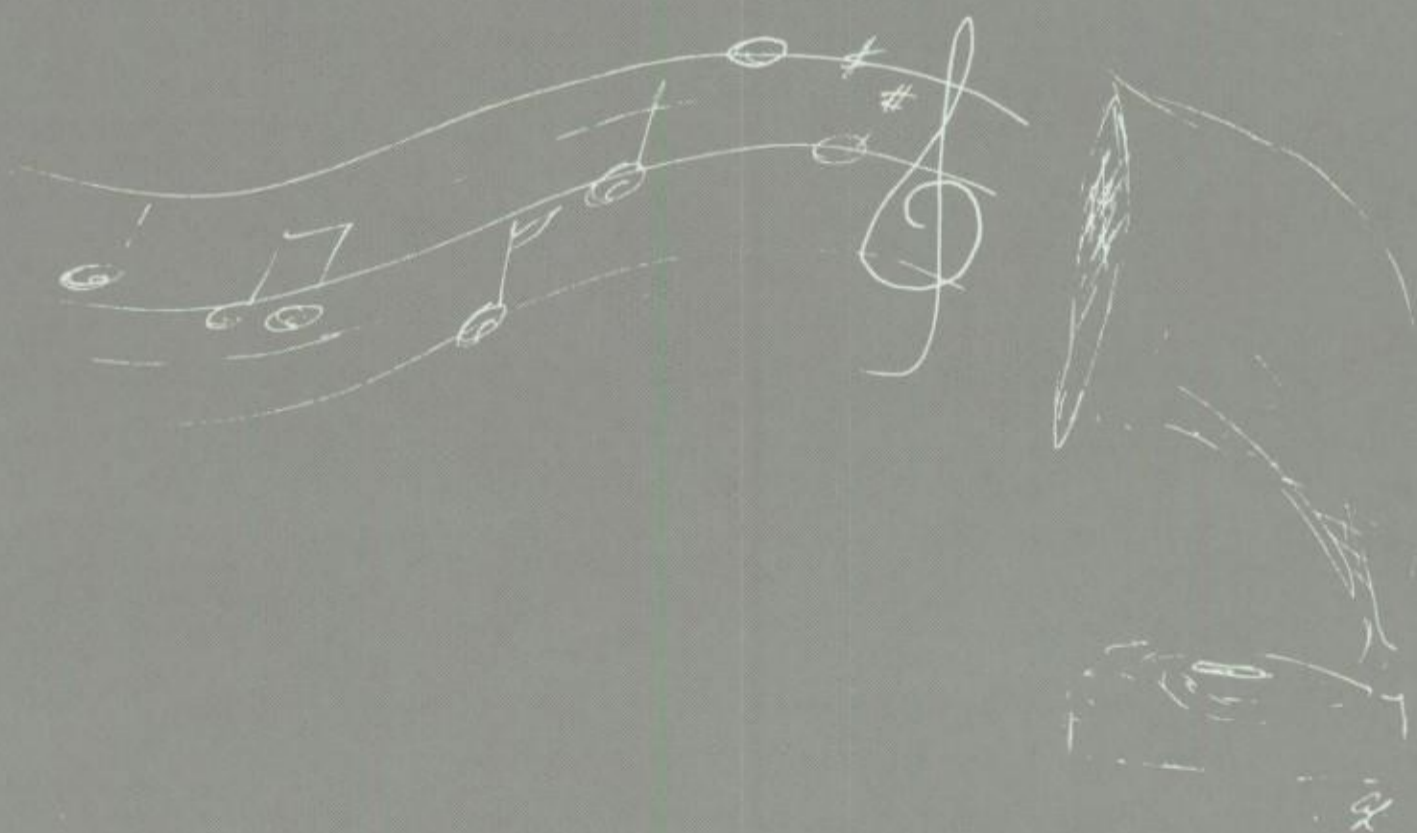

She has earned our academy award for best actress. She has entertained her classes with scenes from Chaucer to Kafka; she has impersonated Greudal, Candide, and Gregor the Cockroach. Her "lessons in etiquette" have educated and amused us. An intellectual dynamo, she truly brings literature to life.

Co-Advisor of the National Honor Society, Mrs. Corkery embodies the NHS ideals of character, service, leadership, and scholarship. She has inspired her students to become involved in the school and in the community. Under her direction, the group continued to sponsor a child from Indonesia and to raise scholarship monies.

Mrs. Corkery leaves a lasting impression on her students because she lives by what she teaches. For all you have given us, "Corks," we love and respect you.

Yearbook Editors

Putting together a yearbook is no small task as we discovered this past year. The yearbook is the product of many hours of hard work. Our limited staff of editors had perseverance. The advisor had each editor undergo an application process consisting of an essay, recommendations, and an interview. After the selection process, the editorial staff worked last summer, after school, weekends, vacation time, studies, and lunch. We cancelled dates, ignored friends, forgot school (homework? what homework!). As we leave yearbook room A209, we want to thank these individuals. Advisor Patricia Chisholm was a source of guidance and stability during our times of deadline panic. Her constant cheery words of encouragement gave us hope that there was life after yearbook. Bonnie Collins and camera were a familiar sight at DHS as she snapped her way through the visual aspects of our book. Jen Gioioso completed the faculty section. Both Bonnie and Jen helped on every part of the book. Meredith Silverio provided the portfolio, collages, original story, and a wicked sense of humor. Karen Jones' typing was a great help. We are grateful to Mrs. Gloria Fisher for her kind assistance. Tricia Toomey organized the superlatives, class will, and survey. Alayne Lavoie contributed the artwork. To the rest of the senior class, thanks for your support—especially those petitions. Despite the hassles and headaches, pressure and problems, we created a book in which we take much pride. We hope you enjoy it.

Business Editors

In September, the business staffers were all novices, but by February we ranked among the most productive business staffs having generated the most ad pages in the history of DHS year-books. We quickly learned what it takes to raise $1000 per month. With the help of billing editor Jay Twomey, we deciphered the computer and produced hundreds of mailing labels. Thanks to layout editor Laura (Picasso) Sullivan, the tedious task of layout became easier. She spiced up the ad section so it cleverly reflected the humor and spirit of the Class of '86. Bookkeeper Linda Cote competently managed a $6000 account. We could not have done as well without our calm and optimistic Business Advisor Mary Pietrini with her keen sense of detail and superb judgement. Mrs. Jacquie Milne and Mrs. Kathy Keohane gave us valuable assistance. Because of the unparalleled teamwork of the business staff, we raised more money than ever and we added the lively concept of the Spirit Section to the advertisements. Our heartfelt thanks to the business men and women in the community who helped us to finance this 1986 HERITAGE.

Mr. President

I would like to thank the Class of 1986 for giving me the opportunity to serve as Class President during our senior year. Vice-President Brian Roach, Treasurer Jack Jones, Secretary Jill Ruchalski and I enjoyed organizing all our class activities.

I would especially like to thank our class advisors Patricia Chisholm and Nick Logan for their practical guidance, strong encouragement, and infinite patience. I appreciate the spirit and support of Mr. Jim Farley who helped make our events so successful.

We shall never forget our years at Danvers High School. The Class of 1986 has stuck together through the happy and sad times. We shall treasure the friendships we have made. As we move forward in life and go our separate ways, we shall make new friends. We shall one day better understand the value of our Danvers High School education as we strive to become successful men and women in society. Good luck in the future.

Chris Connelly
President
Class of 1986

SPECIAL THANKS TO

Veronica Brown

English teacher Veronica Brown was our Class Advisor during our freshman, sophomore, and junior years. Although Mrs. Brown could not be with us in our senior year to see all of our fundraising efforts pay off, we sincerely appreciate her never-ending patience and commitment to the Class of 1986. Some classes in the past had financial problems, but thanks to Mrs. Brown, our class had no worries. Her perpetual energy and friendly disposition make her a favorite in the eyes of all students. To you, Mrs. Brown, we say "thank you" for making our four years at Danvers High School as great as they were.

OUR CLASS ADVISORS

Nick Logan and Patricia Chisholm

When the Class of 1986 needed a Senior Class Advisor, Ms. Chisholm and Mr. Logan were there to help us. Although Ms. Chisholm was Sophomore Class Advisor and Mr. Logan was Junior Class Advisor, these English teachers teamed up to guide our class through its most hectic year. Most people do not realize the tremendous amount of planning and preparation that these two teachers put into every class activity such as the prom, the luau, the senior citizens luncheon, the senior banquet, and the reception. Keeping everybody happy is not an easy task. We shall always be grateful to Ms. Chisholm and Mr. Logan for taking the time to work with us to make our last year of high school the best. Ms. Chisholm and Mr. Logan, we would not have made it without your advice, concern, and support.
